

create short videos format them for mobile devices publish them on the web

Portable Video Workshop

Monday, 21 November 2005, 6-9pm
Interactive Media Lab, Zemeckis Center, Second Floor

Publish Short Video on the Web
Publish Short Video for Mobile Phones, Video iPods, Sony PSP
Promote Your Videos Online

Portable video activist Kenyatta Cheese visiting from NYC teaches with proto-blogger Justin Hall.

Portable Video and Online Distribution Class - Spring 2006

A two-credit class studying portable video, video for small screens, for mobile devices, and studying internet distribution of video.

Each week, we'll make, screen, and critique short videos. Students will have a chance to distribute these short videos over the web.
We'll debate the issues behind this emerging medium.

The class is open to all students at USC, without prerequisites. A preview syllabus is online, you can check it out from the URL at the bottom of this sheet. Brought to you by the Interactive Media Division and the Annenberg Center for Communications.

Sign up for "CTIN 499" through OASIS

Keywords: Portable Video, Peer to Peer Distribution, VideoBlogging, Intellectual Property and Creative Commons,
Citizen Journalism, Podcasting, Video iPod, PSP, Mobile Phone Video Capture and Playback.

more information:

<http://interactive.usc.edu/projects/portablevideo/>